

ABSTRACT

Methods for treating psychiatric disorders include intracranial administration of a therapeutically effective amount of a neurotoxin,
5 such as a botulinum toxin type A, to a human patient.